

Western Canada

Moisture levels have been below average over the past four months in major commercial oat areas. This is not a critical issue for the oat market but bears watching.

